Hello Enesta,

Hope you are well. I am working on a story about a type of cleaning that happens in the petrochemical industry and need to speak with an expert in hazardous waste. Things I will need to talk to this person about:

- 1) documents and records required pertaining to hazardous waste that is generated at tank wash facilities
- 2) documents and records required when such waste is trucked to a haz waste disposal facility
- 3) documents and records required of the receiving hazardous waste facility

Can you identify for me who at EPA has this expertise and let me know how soon I might be able to speak with him or her?

Thank you,

Ingrid Lobet

Hi,

Just spoke with Larry for the FOIA office and it does not seem like the Center for Effective Government had a FOIA with us regarding RMP. Here is a search found on FOIA online which houses our FOIA requests (<https://foiaonline.regulations.gov/foia/action/public/search/runSearchFromHeader#detailAnchor>)

They have one FOIA request processing on formaldehyde. Attached are FOIA requests regarding RMPs. Provided by Larry.

We may need to get more clarification from the reporter. Maybe the FOIA is from someone else. Or if he would like the information then the reporter would need to submit a FOIA request and we can process it as a FOIA request.

As I understand (I may be slightly off), they filed a FOIA several years ago. EPA did not respond. The group sued in federal court and EPA provided the data before it went to trial.

Long story short: All I'd like to do is get a copy of the most up-to-date RMP data. Clearly, it's public record --- I'm just hoping we can do this with the least amount of headaches for EPA and us.
